ABSENT BROTHERS ARE REMEMBERED

Beautiful Memorial of B. P. O. Elks Observed

Eloquent Addresses and Eulogy and Exquisite Music Shared in Program.

KENTUCKY THEATER CROWDED

Blended in the program of the Elks' Memorial service at the Kentucky theater Sunday afternoon were religious, eulogistic, oratorical, and musical features.

Together they formed a memorial service, one of the most impressive and beautiful ever held in the city.
The beauty of the service was enhanced by the fact that only the virtues of their departed brothers were remembered, their faults being written in the shifting sands, as the un-essential always gives place to the vital.

The brothers who have died within the year and for whom the memorial service was held yesterday, are: William Porteous, M. W. Johnson, D. L. Sanders, George O. Hart.

The Elks met at their home across the street from the Kentucky and marched in a body to the place of service, taking their places on the stage. The procession was played by King's orchestra.

After an invocation by the Rev.
David C. Wright, opening ceremonies by the lodge were conducted from the ritual. An address by Judge R.
T. Lightfoot followed his speech, heing along the line of the lodge purposes and the reason for holding memorial services.

A double quartet in which were Miss Anne Bradshaw, Mrs. Lella Wade Lewis, Mrs. James Welle, and Mrs. William C. Gray; Messrs. Robert Chastaine, Harry Collins, Edward Scott and Emmet W. Hagby sang twice delightfully, songs appropriate to the occasion.

Hon. Emmet W. Bagby delivered the eulogies. He dwelt on the personal qualities of the different departed members and showed what their loss meant to the lodge. Miss Anne Bradshaw followed with a vocal solo.

In an oration which summarized the chief points brought out by the preceding speakers, the Hon. Hal Corbett addressed the audience, adding further to the oral part of the program.

"Thanatopsis," that beautiful poem, was recited by Mr. Joseph Deuberger. The lodge and congregation sang "Nearer My God to Thee."

The afternoon's program culminated with the most impressive feature of the program, "Forget Me Not." Each member of the lodge marched past a receptacle in which he placed a forget-me-not.

The closing ceremonies were conducted from the ritual the lodge congregation and orchestra joined in the "Hallelujah," and the benediction was said by the Rev. David C.
Wright. The audience retired to the music of the recessional by King's orchestra.

The stage was decorated with potted palms. An immense star hung in the rear. The theater was crowded.

DAVIS GARRULOUS.

Says Others Are Implicated in Comterfelling.

Wade Brown, deputy United States marshal, has returned from Atlanta, Ga., where he took three federal prisoners. One was Henry Davis, who got six years for counterfeiting. Davis became confidential en route south and declared that others besides himself and Curtis Ingram were implicated in the counterfeiting, and that brass moulds were in making spurious dollars were shipped away from Paducah and are now in the hands of persons who are making counterfeit money. The police think Davis is simply talking.

Direct Vote for Senators.

Des Moines, Ia., Dec. 3.—The governors of more than 30 states have accepted the invitation of Iowa to appoint delegates to attend a conference in Des Moines next Wednesday to discuss ways and means to secure an amendment to the federal constitution giving the people the right to elect United States senators by a direct vote.

MISS STEWART

Will Give Reading From Shaw in the High School.

Miss Anna Byrd Stewart, formerly teacher of English in the Paducah High school, will give a reading on January 4 to the High school, and her visit is looked forward to with interest. Miss Stewart is teacher of English in the Cincinnati schools and is an excellent reader. She has selected the works of Bernard Shaw as her subject. The reading will be given in the auditorium of the Paducah High school. Miss Stewart will visit in Paducah a few days before returning home.

TOOK A SHOT

AT MAN WHO WAS PROWLING AROUND HER HOUSE.

Mrs. Lulu Gaskey Says She Will Kill Him If He Persists in His Conduct.

People living in the neighborhood of the city hall were startled Saturday night by the report of a pistol shot, and investigation revealed the fact that the pistol was used in the hand of Mrs. Lulu Gaskey, of 212 South Fourth street, who fired at a prowler.

The prowler was a former boarder with whom Mrs. Gaskey has had trouble, and she said he had often been seen on her premises. She continued:

"The man took the mat off my door step and ran away. He was seen to do that, and then he came around to the side of the house and peeped in the window. Next he was observed to go out back way and try to open the back gate. I then got my pistol and fired at him.

"It makes me nervous to have a man prowling about the premises that way. I have often intended getting out a warrant, but I have neglected to do so. I fired to kill and I mean to kill the man if he comes around again."

INSURANCE MEN HELP WOMAN Say Mother Charged With Poisoning Girls Could Profit Little.

Philadelphia, Dec. 3.—Mrs. Bridget Carey, the young widow who is under arrest on suspicion of having poisoned two children, has found staunch defenders in the local representatives of the insurance company in which the lives of the deceased children were insured. One of the company's officials today showed that the accused woman could profit little in the way of cash by the death of the two little girls. The police, however, claim to have materially strengthened their case against the woman.

ELECTIONS IN BRITAIN COSTLY Total of $5,843,290 Spent in Last Parliamentary Contest.

London, Dec. 3.—A parliamentary return of the "official" expenses of the candidates of the recent general election shows that it cost the 670 members of parliament $5,843,290 to obtain their seats, an average per vote of 98 cents. The sums privately disbursed would substantially increase the total judging from the evidence of some of the bithery trials, which followed the elections.

WHOLE FAMILY SHOPLIFTERS. Spaniards and $6,000 Worth of Loot Taken in Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, Dec. 3.—Four Spanish shoplifters were arrested here yesterday by detectives and $6,000 worth of silks, furs and clothing stolen from the local department stores was recovered. Pedro Sanchez, his wife and their two daughters compose the quartet of prisoners. When detectives searched their rooms in the Hoffman House the party was on the eve of leaving for the City of Mexico.

GOBEZ RETIRES FROM CONTEST.

Gives Zayas Clear Field for Presidency in Cuba.

Havana, Dec. 3.—Jose Miguel Guzman has issued a statement in which he says he has retired as a candidate for the presidency of the republic in the interest of harmony among the Liberals. This leaves the way clear for the candidacy of Alfredo Zayas.

RE-ASSESSMENT OF ALL REAL ESTATE

Will Be Made This Year By Tax Supervisors

City Assessor's Books Ready to Be Turned Over to City Auditor —Few Changes.

ASSESSMENT OF LAST YEAR.

Stewart Dick, city tax assessor, probably will turn over to City Auditor Kirkland the tax books today, as they must be received for and reported to the board of councilmen tonight.

While the total assessment has not been computed and it will be several days before the actual figures can be given out, it is probable that there will be little change in the property valuation. Assessor Dick is making changes in the real estate assessment only where improvements have been added while the shifting of personality will show little increase over last year. The total assessment last year was $9,876,676, composed of $6,969,597 real estate and $2,907,079.

This is the year the board of tax book supervisors raise the assessment and the basis of real estate values fixed by the board in January will stand for four years. For this reason Assessor Dick is not disturbing the present valuation, leaving the board to make such changes as it may desire. The board is composed of E. G. Hoone, Richard Holland and James Glauber.

A block chart of the city will be used by the board and valuations will be fixed by primarily making the raise by sections. Thus, in the business district a higher valuation will be fixed per front foot than in the residence sections, and they will be subdivided. It is possible that the assessment will be increased $2,000-000 by the board.

GIRL FAGIN.

Organizes Band of Juvenile Thieves in Baltimore.

Baltimore, Md., Dec. 3.—Locked up in the Central police station is Lida Erman, 22 years old, tall, slender, with red hair. In appearance she is a working girl, but Captain Pumphrey and Detectives Hogan and Mannheim of headquarters, say that the girl is a veritable female "Fagin," and that for two months she has taught, organized and directed the operations of a band of child thieves, who have been literally raiding the large department stores on Lexington street. The arrest of the alleged female "Fagin" was brought about by the recent capture of three little girls who were suspected of stealing in the department stores, and who admitted their thefts to Captain Pumphrey and Detectives Hogan and Mannheim.

BANK IN NEW HOME.

Mechanics and Farmers' Savings at 210 Broadway.

The Mechanics and Farmers' Savings bank opened for business in its new building at 210 Broadway, this morning. The bank was moved from 227 Broadway. For the first four years of its existence this bank had quarters in the American-German bank building, but increasing business necessitated larger facilities.

Death Parts Young Couple.

Marlette, O., Dec. 3.—While Clara Upman and William Hendershott were going to church last night their horse became frightened and backed over a bridge, instantly killing Miss Upman and slightly injuring Hendershott.
The horse fell on Miss Upman's head, crushing it. The horse and rig rolled into a stream and was carried away by the swift current.
The couple were to have been married Christmas.

There is only one kind of a newspaper circulation statement that is worth any consideration and that is the daily detailed statement. The Sun is the only Paducah paper printing such a statement.

FIRE MARSHAL WARNED AND PEOPLE ALARMED BY SPIES OF RABBITERS.

Princeton, Ky., Dec. 3.—Warnings and threats have been communicated to State Fire Marshal Ayers and his attorney that it will not be wise for them to attempt to investigate into the burning of the tobacco stemmer-ies Saturday. Marshal Ayers says he will make a thorough investigation. Summons for witnesses were placed in the hands of the sheriff. William Whiters was arrested on Mr. Ayers' warrant, charging him with being a member of the mob. He was released on bail for his appearance Thursday. Spies of the rakers at Princeton and people are afraid to talk.

CONGRESS MEETS FOR FEW MOMENTS

Estimates of Appropriations Necessary Amount to $650,000,000 for Year.

AN INCREASE OF $60,000,000

Washington, Dec. 3.—The legislative branch of the government resumed business at noon today without ostentations. The second session of the Fifty-ninth congress started on its career of three months and a day with its members determined to fulfill the prediction made by President Roosevelt that future history will declare unanimously that no previous congress accomplished so much good for the people of the nation. After a short session it adjourned until Tuesday when the president's message will be received.
Increase $60,000,000.

Estimate of appropriations required to run the government for the next fiscal year were transmitted to congress today by the secretary of the treasury. The grand total is over $689,000,000. This shows an apparent increase of about $66,000,000 over present year.

The Senate Opening.
The opening of the senate was marked by the unexpected introduction by Penrose, of Pennsylvania, of a resolution calling upon the president for information concerning his recent order dismissing three colored companies from the army. The chair called attention to the custom that no business should be transacted until the president officially is heard from. Penrose insisted and Foraker called for the records in the case against the secretary of war. The matter finally went over.

Moody's Name Presented.
The president today sent to the senate the name of Attorney General Moody to be associate justice of the supreme court.

CAIRO PROTESTS AGAINST INVASION

Sends Paducah Women Out Of That City.

Seven Return and Some Apply at City Hall for Aid—Others Walk Streets of City.

DIAMOND PIN IS SNATCHED

Eighteen women, over a dozen being from the "red light" district in Paducah, were arrested at Cairo Saturday night only a few minutes after leaving the train on which they had arrived. Chief of Police Egan would not permit the women to stay, and as soon as he gathered them together, made them leave, giving 24 hours in which to get away.

Several women went to a house of ill-fame in Cairo and applied for lodgings. They were dancing and drinking with several men. One man lost a $300 diamond stud. It was not recovered and the Cairo women laid the crime at the door of visitors—the Paducah women. The women were not prosecuted, there being no evidence against them.

Seven returned to Paducah Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock and three were forced to apply at the city hall for aid. Three women who did not leave Paducah were in appearance on the streets Saturday and last night.
Local police did not molest them as they behaved, but if their conduct changes for the worse they will be arrested and made to leave the city.
Keepers of houses on Kentucky avenue refused to let men in and also refused to take back women who returned from Cairo. Several of these went to St. Louis.

ting Favor From Railroad.

Hartley, senior member of the grain brokerage firm of H. S. Hartley & Co., pleaded guilty in the United States district court today to the charge of receiving rebates from the St. Louis and San Francisco Railroad company. Judge J. E. Carland assessed the minimum penalty, a fine of $1,000 and granted Hartley until Wednesday next to pay it. Hartley was indicted on Nov. 13 last. It was shown that he shipped 500 sacks of cotton seed meal from points in Indian Territory, the ostensible destination being Carrollton, Mo. By diverting the shipment at Kansas City he secured a rate of 5 cents a hundred pounds less than should have been paid.

FRESH PROBLEM IN ABYSSINIA.

Serious Illness of Menelik Causes International Complication.

Rome, Dec. 3.—The situation in Abyssinia, due to the serious illness of King Menelik and the disturbances which are likely to occur in the struggle for the succession, has rendered more difficult the acceptance and enforcement of the Anglo-Franco-Italian convention concluded with Abyssinia in London last summer, the ratification of which Menelik has continually postponed. The main clauses of the treaty guarantee the integrity of the Abyssinian empire, the open door and commercial equality for all countries and provides for the construction by the French of the railway connecting Addis-Abeba, the capital of Abyssinia, with the coast.

on the Louisville division of the Illinois Central, delayed traffic this morning for several hours. No one was injured, and the damage is reported light.

charge of Engineer T. G. Stevenson and Conductor Tom Keegan, split the switch and the tank and eight coal cars went into the ditch. The Walek and Miss Edna Drynan, of this city eloped to Clinton, Iowa, where they were wed and returned to this city tonight. The elopement was the outcome of a fight between two suitchanicsburg, burned this morning at 4:40 o'clock and is a total loss with small insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown as the building was half gone when discovered. The department did good work, but could not extinguish the blaze with the headway it gained. The loss is estimated at about $1,000, stock and building.

disorder if the jury fails to agree or finds the prisoner innocent.

INSTRUCTS JURY TO INVESTIGATE

Judge Reed Will Compel The Obedience to Order

Says That Gambling Is Going on in Paducah and Says It Should Be Probed.

"PISTOL TOTERS" MENTIONED

"I have said little about 'red light' district," Judge Reed said in his charge to the grand jury this morning, "and will take occasion to express myself. I issued an order for the women to move off Kentucky avenue in this district; to compel them to abate a nuisance. About 40 years ago they moved to that section which was then the outskirts. Formerly there were warehouses on Broadway which obstructed the view but since they burned, a year ago, the 'red light' district has been in plain view of every mother and daughter who has to go on Broadway between Ninth and Eleventh streets. The law is not being obeyed when the houses are permitted to operate, and I am going to see that the law is obeyed. I will request that you investigate thoroughly and see if the order to vacate by December 1 is carried out. I will call on the grand jury petit jury, policemen and every public-spirited citizen to aid in suppressing this evil."

Gambling in Progress.
In regard to the crime of carrying concealed a deadly weapon, the court stated that it would be far better for young men to fill themselves up on the meaneast liquor possible to securthan to lay themselves liable to arrest for not merely carrying the pistol but shooting some one. He stated that another law often violated was that of gaming; that he understood a great deal was going on, and suggested the matter be thoroughly probed.

"In order to get through with the business before the holidays, it will be necessary to do your work quickly," Judge Reed stated, "and I will suggest that you bring in all your fall indictments by Wednesday, if possible."

The criminal term of McCracken circuit court began this morning.
Judge William Reed presiding. The sheriff and deputies were sworn in and the preliminaries finished. Following this Judge Reed empaneled the grand jury and gave it lengthy instructions, touching especially on the "red light" district.

The grand jury is composed of:
Charles E. Graham, foreman; D. H.
Owen, J. J. Thompson, A. E. Stegar, A. B. Dupire, J. D. McQueen, Miles Stewart, F. W. Fuiks, E. O. Thompson, H. E. Johnson, Jake Oehlschlager.

Judge Reed instructed the grand jury on what constitutes murder, homicide, shooting in sudden heat and passion and other crimes and touched specifically on gaming, carrying concealed a deadly weapon and the "red light" district.

I ALWAYS RELY ON IT

Experienced housekeepers want a baking powder for all purposes. Hi-Lo is perfect in biscuits and muffins, makes flannel and corn cakes as light as a flake, and excels in the most delicate of layer cakes, because the "life of the powder" is slowly liberated into the dough—thus a "smoothness," the most desirable element in baking.

Who would not rely on this excellent product? Protected in moisture-proof tins, conforms with all pure food laws, State and National.

A crowd collected, but Brand escaped, ran home and quickly came back, waving a sword in one hand and firing a revolver with the other. The police overpowered him and he was taken before a magistrate and fined.

FORMAL HAN ON EVE'S DIARY

Worcester Library Censors Mark Twain's Book.

Worcester, Mass., Dec. 3.—The court of last resort has decided that "Eve's Diary," by Mark Twain, must shine from under a bushel in Worcester.

This is because of the Edenic costumes worn by Eve in the book's 50 etchings.

The court of last resort is composed of Town Clerk Frank O. Wakefield, the Rev. George O. Jenness, a Congregational clergyman, and Lewis A. MacIntyre, an undertaker, who make up the Charlton Library Trustees.

They met today and decided firmly and uncompromisingly that the book must not be placed in general circulation. There has been a big demand for the book at the library since Mrs. H. T. Carpenter noticed how attractive the etchings are.

The decision of the trustees was embodied in a few words solemnly spoken by Clerk Wakefield:

"The book is not in circulation and will not be; it will be sent back."

WATER AS LENS IGNITES HOUSE.

Aquarium Concentrates Sun's Rays and Lace Curtains Blaze.

Tamperle, Ill., Dec. 3.—Water set P. Haller's house on fire today. A large spherical aquarium sat in a south window and through it the sun shone. The globe of water acted as a lens and the concentrated rays fell upon some lace curtains which smoldered for several hours and then burst in flames, which ignited the walls and other woodwork, making a fire that was extinguished with difficulty. This is the second fire of this kind that this globe has caused, and it will probably be destroyed now.

Vice president, Prof. G. Doff, Mayfield.

At the meeting a "Teachers' Improvement League" was organized with S. J. Billington president. The next meeting will be held in Mayfield in November, 1907.

DENY A MUTINY ON TENNESSEE.

Official Statement Pronounces Story as Entirely Groundless.

Washington, Dec. 3.—Reports of an alleged mutiny on board the battleship Tennessee, while she acted as a convoy to the Louisiana, which ship conveyed President Roosevelt to Panama and back, were officially denied today. "So far from the coaling at Oblique Lagoon being conducted under the pointed rifles of the marines," says the report, "every marine, except the corporals of the guard and sentries on post, was in the coaling lighter, and the men of the Tennessee were so anxious to beat the other crew at coaling that they continued work during one of the heaviest rainstorms that has been experienced at that point. On the forced draft run on the way up the men begged for opportunities to work in the firerooms."

LEGISLATIVE QUIZ FOR BAILEY.

Will Inquire Into Senator's Dealings With Waters-Pierce Company.

Austin, Tex., Dec. 3.—The postponement of the state's counter suit against the Waters-Pierce Oil company until March will not prevent the evidence which Attorney General Davidson has in regard to Senator Bailey's connection with that company from becoming public before that time. It is stated that the whole matter will be investigated by the legislature, which meets in January. A caucus of the anti-Bailey legislators will be held the latter part of this month to agree upon the candidate in opposition to Bailey. Governor-elect Campbell and Cone Johnson are mentioned as possible candidates.

CHEAP LOW PRICED SMALL HOMES

Near city, fertile, high, dry land, in best neighborhood; Have just platted into lots of about five acres each the 240 acre (Williams) tract, joining the Pines lands on west. Bounded next to city by Perkins Creek and Pines lands between, Buckner Lane Road and Hinkleville Gravel Road. Has 4133 feet frontage on Buckner Lane Road, said road just graveled in front of this land. Has 757 feet front on Hinkleville Gravel Road, and plat gives 40 feet cross roads through the tract, so that each and every lot fronts either on these gravel roads or these newly opened roads. Most of the lots front at each end on these roads. No nicer land in McCracken county. The 20 acres front on Hinkleville road has nice grove of forest trees on it and lays so as to make ideal residence sites.

Price on the Hinkleville road front is $100.00 per acre, of which $10 acre cash and balance in monthly or quarterly payments running five years. All other lots $65 acre on same terms. While these prices are uniform, there is difference in desirability of lots and first customers get choice. Come and see plat and list men who have taken dozen lots before I could get the parcels staked off. For home or investment lots you lose opportunity if you fail to take this. On one lot is new 5-room house which is priced at $800 additional to cost of land at $65 acre.

NO NEW SPELLING FOR COMMITTEE

Will Cling To The Old Way In Spite of President.

Expecting Large Attendance at Meeting of Rivers and Harbors Congress.

CIVIL WAR ENGINEER SICK

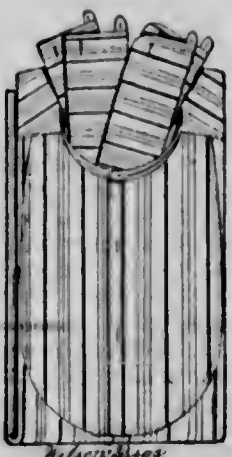

Washington, Dec. 3.—President Roosevelt is back from his trip to the lathums and Porto Rico, jubilant over the work being done on the canal. He returned in time, however, to receive a jolt on the "simplified spelling" fiasco, which came in the shape of a decision of the house committee on appropriations. The committee, which has been in session before the formal opening of congress, is determined that the Carnegie-Mathews-Roosevelt style of orthography will not be approved by congress, if it can be helped. As the committee on appropriations is in a peculiarly happy position to have its recommendations carried out, it is likely that the president's attack on the existing dictionaries will prove altogether harmless, so far as the government is concerned. The committee, in addition to voicing its disapproval of the reform, is very likely to offer a resolution in the shape of an order to the public printer to disregard the presidential order on spelling, so far as congressional reports are concerned. This is the most important revolt yet, and undoubtedly there is woe in the camp of the simple spellers. It will be remembered that the navy department balked first, and the supreme court followed its lead by refusing to have the changed style used in the reprinting of briefs.

Rivers and Harbors.

Preparations are well under way for the convention of the national rivers and harbors congress, which meets here on Thursday and Friday of next week. J. P. Ellison, secretary of the executive committee of the congress, has arrived from Cincinnati, and is busily engaged in making ready for the 1,000 delegates who will be in attendance. A gratifying fact in the acceptance pouring in on Secretary Ellison in response

A WARNING

To the People of Paducah.

"Sudden changes in the weather cannot help but result in coughs, colds, bronchial troubles, the grippe and other sicknesses. This weather is also bad for old people and those who are run down or have a tendency to any weakness or disease."

Said Mr. W. B. McPherson, our local druggist: "It seems to me that every man, woman and child in Paducah, especially the aged and run-down, should be warned through the columns of your paper to build themselves up and take proper precautions to ward off sickness at this season, and there would be very much less suffering and fewer deaths in Paducah."

When asked what was considered the most universally successful medicine they had ever sold for that purpose, without hesitation Mr. McPherson answered, "Our modern cod liver preparation, Vinol. You know it is not a patent medicine, and it does not contain any useless oil to clog the system and upset the stomach, but it does contain every one of the medicinal, curative and body-building elements of cod liver oil actually taken from fresh cods' livers, with tonic iron added."

Vinol cures coughs, bronchitis, strengthens the aged, builds up the weak and run down, and makes rich blood. If it fails we return your money. W. B. McPherson, Druggist.

NOTE.—While we are sole agents for Vinol in Paducah, it is now for sale at the leading drug store in nearly every town and city in the country. Look for the Vinol agency in your town.

To the invitation of the congress to committees, to attend the convention, is the number of favorable replies from districts and cities distant from river- or deep-sea ports. Indianapolis is a case in point. Mayor Bookwalter of that city, with a big delegation, is coming to attend the session. Indianapolis is a railroad city, essentially, but it realizes that the development of water transportation is certain to have the effect of reducing rail freight rates over wide areas. For instance, Mayor Bookwalter knows that if the Ohio river is developed as a channel of commerce it will force the railroads at Indianapolis to reduce rates on many commodities, although the river does not come into immediate competition with the Indianapolis traffic. If the railroads did not reduce their rates, the industries affected would move out of their territory, deserting Indianapolis for Cincinnati or some manufacturing point on the river and thus the transportation companies and the capital of Indiana would be losers. This fact has been a difficult matter to drive home to communities not situated on the inland rivers, but now it evidently has been accepted. The great strength of the movement for an annual appropriation of $50,000,000 for the improvement of the country's rivers and harbors will be borne in on the federal lawmakers when they convene Monday.

Civil War Engineer.

William McKinley, although no relative of the late president, is in the Providence hospital here, and Civil war veterans all over the country will mourn at the news. McKinley, although not an enlisted man, was one of the most trusted engineers on the military trains of the Union forces during the Civil war. It has often been said of him that he was "shot up" so often and maimed in so many railway accidents, the result of train wrecking during the conflict, that he resembled a human sieve when the war ended. McKinley's first work for the government cause was when he was summoned to drive the locomotive that drew the train on which Abraham Lincoln traveled from Philadelphia to Washington to be inaugurated. For years McKinley was on the payroll of the postoffice department as a laborer at $720 a year, but a short time ago he was retired because of disability. The worry over his dismissal aggravated the suffering he experienced because of the old war wounds and he finally had to be taken to a hospital. His case is a sad proof of the ingratitude of republics. He is without a pension, although congress in one time considered the matter. Nothing ever was done, and the old man who did so much for the nation in its days of travail, is practically without funds, should he recover.

One Day Late.

Ernest had been to a children's party and eaten all that he could possibly put beneath his little blouse, but it nearly broke his heart to think he could not do greater justice to the feast of good things before him. A bright idea came to him. Early next morning he went around to the scene of the festivities, and on being asked by Mrs. Johnson what he would like, replied, "I'd like all the things I couldn't eat yesterday, please."—Harper's Weekly.

WHOLESALE STAMP IS BEING MISUSED

Orders Issued By Yerkes To Revenue Collectors

Removing Original Stamp, Reducing Spirits and Putting on New Stamp.

TEXT OF RECENT CIRCULAR

Louisville, Dec. 3.—An interpretation of circular No. 682, referring to the use of wholesale liquor dealers' stamps, received yesterday by J. A. Craft, internal revenue collector for this district, from John W. Yerkes, commissioner, is considered of the greatest importance to all persons engaged in the wholesale and retail liquor business. According to the interpretation, it no longer will be lawful for a duly qualified rectifier, wholesale and retail liquor dealer or in take a package of rectified spirits, just filled on his premises, immediately cut the slip from the stamp for rectified spirits thereto attached, and make application for a wholesale liquor dealers' stamp to cover the same package with the proof slightly reduced, the difference or surplus quantity resulting from the reduction having been disposed of to himself for retail.

The interpretation made by Commissioner Yerkes was the result of inquiry relative to circular No. 682, made by Herman F. Cellarius, collector for the first district, of Cincinnati, O.

Circular No. 682, which was recently sent out to all collectors of internal revenue and other internal revenue officers, follows:

"The abnormal increase in the use of wholesale liquor dealers' stamps has caused this office to make careful inquiry as to the cause of such increase, with the result that it is found that stamps of this class, which were intended for use on packages filled on the premises of wholesale liquor dealers, are in many instances being used, apparently for no other purpose than to substitute such stamps for other stamps affixed to original packages of distillers, rectifiers and wholesale liquor dealers."

"Collectors will, therefore, on and after January 1, 1907, decline to issue a wholesale liquor dealers' stamp for use on any package not filled on the premises of a wholesale liquor dealer, or for use on any unbroken package bearing the marks, stamps and brands required by law."

Afraid of the Path.

Uncle Eph had long boasted that he had never needed the services of a doctor, but now he was ill and his neighbor felt that the time had come when a physician should be called. "Come, now, Uncle Eph," said she, "we will call whomever you wish—you know there's a good allopath and a good homeopath and there's a new doctor, an osteopath. Now, wholl you have?" "Wal," drawled Uncle Eph, "I dunno as it matters—they do say that all paths lead to the grave."

RHEUMATISM

Bone or Back Pains, Swollen Joints THROUGH THE BLOOD
By Botanic Blood Balm (H. B. B.)

There is hope for the most hopeless case of Rheumatism if the sufferer will only take Botanic Blood Balm (H. B. B.). It invigorates the blood, making it pure and rich, and destroying the active poison in the blood, which causes the awful symptoms of Rheumatism. Leading Symptoms—Bone pains, swelling or shooting pains up and down the leg; aching back or shoulder blades; swollen joints or swollen muscles; difficulty in moving around, so you have to use crutches; blood thin or skin pale; skin itches and burns; shivering pains; bad breath; achiness; lumbago, gout, etc. Botanic Blood Balm (H. B. B.) will remove every symptom, giving quick relief from the first dose, and H. B. B. sends a rich tingling flood of warm, rich, pure blood direct to the paralyzed nerves, bones and joints, giving warmth and strength just where it is needed, and in this way making a perfect, lasting cure of Rheumatism in all its forms. H. B. B. has made thousands of cures after medicines or doctors have failed to help or cure.

Weak, Inactive Kidneys.—One of the causes of Rheumatism is due to inactive kidneys and bladder. H. B. B. strengthens weak kidneys and bladder, draining off all diseased matter and all uric acid, so the urine flows freely and naturally.

Botanic Blood Balm (H. B. B.) is pleasant and safe to take. Thoroughly tested for 30 years. Composed of Pure Botanic Ingredients. Strengthens Weak Stomach, cures Dyspepsia. Price $1 per large bottle, at drug stores or by express prepaid. Sample free by writing Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga. Sold in Paducah, Ky., by R. W. Walker & Co., W. J. Gilbert, Long Bros., Alvey & List, call or write either store.

RHEUMATIC FOLKS:

Are You Sure Your Kidneys Are Well?

Many rheumatic attacks are due to uric acid in the blood. But the duty of the kidneys is to remove all uric acid from the blood. Its presence there shows the kidneys are inactive. Don't dally with 'uric acid solvents.' You might go on all day with them, but until you cure the kidneys you will never get well. Doan's Kidney Pills not only remove uric acid, but cure the kidneys and then all danger from uric acid is ended. Here is Paducah testimony to prove it.

Mrs. E. B. Barnard, residing at 1608 Broadway, Paducah, says: "My husband had to give up the grocery business on account of so much sickness in the family, and I believe for the last six years I have hardly seen a well day until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Alvey & List's drug store. I heard of them and knew of their benefiting others right here in Paducah, so I made up my mind to try them. My son and I each used a box and we soon found they were just the remedy we needed for we were both troubled with kidney ailments. The lameness left my back entirely and the rheumatism with which I had been afflicted was much improved. We can both highly endorse Doan's Kidney Pills as a kidney remedy of great merit."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

BALFOUR RAPS EDUCATION BILL

Dates Premier to Appeal to People Against Lords' Amendments.

London, Dec. 3.—The ex-premier, A. J. Balfour, made a long argumentative speech on the education bill at a luncheon given at the Junior Constitutional club this afternoon. He dared Premier Campbell-Bannerman to appeal to the country against the house of lords' amendments of that measure, as suggested in the premier's letter read yesterday at the special meeting of the general committee of the national federation. Mr. Balfour indicated that the unionist peers intended to stick to the main amendments and said that if the government dared to ask for the country's opinion he had no doubt that the ministers would witness an outburst of indignation against the sectarian and unfair measure introduced by the president of the board of education, Mr. Birrell, which would surprise its authors.

Those Who Would Be Strong.

Everybody seeks health nowadays, although all are not successful in finding it. At the same time, the amount of care which most of us take must surely have some effect on the longevity of the race, and certainly the average age does seem to be increasing.

The following rules issued by the New York Board of Health for the guidance of consumptives might very well be followed as nearly as possible by all of us:

Never sleep or stay in a close room.

When indoors remain in the sunniest and best ventilated room—one, if possible, which has no carpet.

Have at least one window open in your bedroom.

Stuffing for Xmas Turkey.

Grate into a large mixing bowl a small loaf of entire wheat bread, seasoning rather highly with salt, pepper, celery salt and ground mace; then add a pint of small stewing oysters that have been carefully drained, and half a pint of small button mushrooms; meanwhile heat in a saucepan a large cupful of the oyster liquor, stirring in just as it is about to boil a teaspoonful of butter, two tablespoonfuls of cream and a teaspoonful of cornstarch that has been moistened in a little cold water; be sure that it boils. When cold, gradually blend with the other ingredients, beating well with a wooden spoon. Stuff the turkey at least 24 hours in advance.—The Christmas Housekeeper.

Daily Thought.

"Patience is a general who has conquered more battles than all the armed warriors of earth."

WE NEED A COLLEGE.

Confident of her position as the metropolis of west Kentucky and the leader of second class cities, if she but keeps up the pace of the last five years, Paducah should not permit her attention to be exclusively engrossed in the accumulation of wealth and the development of material resources, to the degradation of her social condition. With prosperity should come increased refinement and more perfect culture.
These elements are more surely attained and of more lasting quality when cultivated in a scholastic atmosphere. Paducah needs an institution of higher learning. The effect of one would be felt in the public schools clear down to the primary department. The life of the community would be revolutionized in a decade. In a city which possesses a virile college, the institution serves as an invigorator of the common schools. The pupils have something to work up to. Their educational horizon is not bounded by the "Three R's", and they in turn infuse the community with their scholarly ideas. A college would bring to Paducah the best from surrounding cities to enter our social life, and to spend their developing years in Paducah. This would become the social and intellectual, as well as the commercial center of western Kentucky and southern Illinois. That the institution for either sex, would prosper, there can be no doubt. There are enough boys and girls in Paducah to support it. It costs from $1, 000 to $3,000 to educate a child.
There are scores of young men and women who spend four years away from Paducah acquiring an education, which we should afford them at home. Paducah has good public schools and excellent private schools, which may in time grow into something, the excellencies of which will be heard of outside the city, if properly encouraged. This city offers unequalled opportunities for a seat of higher education. There is no prominent institution in western Kentucky, West Tennessee or southern Illinois. This is the largest city, the railroad and river center and the fastest developing community, and Paducah needs such a school.

LET THE LAW PREVAIL.

We are glad to hear a disclaimer of responsibility for the outrage at Princeton, so promptly announced by the American Society of Equity.
That any body of supposedly reputable farmers would conspire to commit such a wanton deed against a rival, however bitter their hatred, is almost unthinkable. The whole affair is a blot on the good name of Kentucky, and no cost should be spared in running down the perpetrators. Not content with taking unlawful possession of the city, terrorizing citizens, destroying property and putting, as well as was in their power, the whole city at the mercy of the flames they started, the ruffians fired into the postoffice and thus gave the federal government an opportunity to take a hand in the investigation. Providence may thus have shaped some frenzied instrument in the crowd to effect its ends of retribution.

Capital is timid, they say, and no one could blame capital for being timid about entering a state in which competition is carried to the extent of destroying the property of competitors. What owner of property will feel secure against the malice of his enemy if this dastardly outrage is permitted to go unpunished? Whether or not the members of a tobacco planters' organization are implicated in the affair makes no difference, the fact remains that 300 outlaws took possession of the city of Princeton in the night and for the time being anarchy was supreme. If one set of men, for what they consider a serious grievance dare to commit crime and suspend the law, what is to hinder any other set of men doing the same thing, when their grievance in their own estimation warrants the deed?

It will not do for people on account of sympathy for the cause to shield the perpetrators, because the example of this act of lawlessness going unpunished will encourage others to imitate it, and the very men, who think they may profit by Princeton's shame, may be the victims of the next crime.

Governor Beckham is pursuing the right policy and he should bring the "night riders" to justice if it takes every cent in the state treasury.

That there may be a deficit at the end of the year in the city budget, no one now doubts, but what that deficit will be is a question no one can answer, as the December collections are still to come in, and they have amounted so far to $5,000. Any broad, unamplified statement that a deficit will exist, conveys to the mind of the casual reader the impression that the general council has either mismanaged or squandered the city's funds, and yet there is not one, who, even in the heat of a municipal campaign, dared question the ability and honesty of its members. No man can sit down and compute the expenses of a city for the ensuing twelve months. All that is expected of a general council is to approximate the ordinary expenses and provide the money therefore. This general council did that and reduced the tax rate from $1.85 to $1.65. Had there been no unusual expenses, the city would have come out whole at the end of the year. Of this deficit, which is estimated at less than $20,000, the cost of installing new machinery in the municipal lighting plant will account for something over $12,000.
There existed a deficit in the hospital fund before any of the present members were elected, and judgments and costs, for which no allowance was made, accounts for some $6,000 more of the deficit. Taken as a whole this council has made a wonderful record for economy.

The Sun was among the pioneers in the movement to compel the evacuation of Kentucky avenue by the habitues of the red light, and the Sun entered on this crusade well knowing that the result must be a protest from citizens of other sections of the city against the location of the red light anywhere else, and the ultimate eradication of the evil presence from the city. The Sun has done all it could to foster the agitation against the location of the red light on other streets, and we believe the citizens of the north side have hit upon the right plan in preparing to prosecute landlords for renting houses to the women. This plan pursued all over the city will keep out the evil as far as it is a menace to the community life.

Nothing is better tempered than the American press as to its own grievances, and this is never better displayed than in case of accidents, which later with the publication.
A noteworthy example is the "Baby Messenger," a little yellow colored sheet of four pages and scarcely larger than a handbill, which the Mayfield Messenger has been publishing during the coal famine. It is a newy little sheet, containing only local news, and it is printed evidently on a hand press.
That is enterprise for you. A mere matter of fuel and mechanical power will not stop the free press. One would have to cut off the logs and arms of everybody connected with the establishment.

PROFESSOR MUNSTERBERG CHALLENGES.

"The Simplified Spelling Board" has every reason to spell Success with a capital. President Roosevelt marches in front of the army, brilliant scholars carry the colors, eminent authors beat the drum, great dictionary-makers belong to the general staff, and Andrew Carnegie looks after the payroll," writes Ilugo Munsterberg, Harvard's eminent psychologist, in the November Mc-Clure's.

In one of the most brilliant and timely articles that has appeared on the subject, Professor Munsterberg throws down the gauntlet to this formidable array, and as a foreigner, a psychologist, and an educator he ar-rigns the whole Simplified Spelling movement.

His satirical protest on behalf of the foreigner—whom the Simplified Spelling is especially designed to benefit—is amusing and to the point.
"Let us take an illustration referring to a large proportion of the three hundred words destined for mutilation," he suggests. "For the school boy, who begins with the conjugation, nothing is easier than to learn that the ending 'ed' indicates the participle. Nothing, perhaps, gives to the eye of the foreign reader such a feeling of safety. That is now gone; the poor boy will have simply to learn by heart the 62 new verbs whose participle goes in future without this 'ed' indication. I hear whole classes reciting sadly, 'Exceptions from the rule of 'ed' are address, amtast, blast, blisht, carest, chapt, clapt, clip, comprat, conlat, and so forth.' And if the grammar copies its information from the Circular of the Spelling Board itself, those poor children will read the list of exceptions in a paragraph which itself contains the participles spelled, mentioned, handicapped, ignored, and other which seem to them of the same order."

Professor Munsterberg sums up clearly and precisely the psychological objection to "simplifying" our spelling. "Just as well might we propose to close one eye in reading," he declares, "for the reason that the nervous processes in the second open eye and in the corresponding half of the brain are a shameful waste of neuronal activity. . . . Simplicity and uniformity are the only real waste, because they demand from us an amount of attention which is ruinous in its cumulation; they perhaps reduce the expense for printer's ink; but they increase neurasthenia among the millions of newspaper readers."

Professor Munsterberg utterly condemns the board's argument that our present spelling is the reason for the backwardness of American school children. "The spirit of this statement," he writes, "contains a grave but subtle danger for our whole American school work. If this fairy-tale becomes dogma, then every forward movement of serious educational progress is side-tracked again for a long while."

Professor Munsterberg's article is a challenge to the leaders of Spelling Reform. Coming from a source of unquestionable authority, and striking with force at the very roots of the movement, it will give a new turn to the discussion of this much-debated question.

FORT McHENRY.

The people of Baltimore are very much exercised over the neglect into which Fort McHenry, around which cluster so many patriotic memories of the early days of the republic, has been allowed to degenerate. It has ceased to be maintained as a military station occupied by regular troops, and great indignation is expressed at a report that the war department is about to permit it to be used as a cattle pen. This has called forth an indignant protest from the press and people of Baltimore. It is argued that jurisdiction over the spot having been ceded to the government, it is a question whether there is any authority to use the property for any other purpose than for military purposes. In addition to this it is contended that from its strategic position it should be maintained as an army post and as an inner defense to Baltimore. It is a beautiful spot, surrounded on three sides by water and commanding the harbor of Baltimore from the southward. It would seem quite as reasonable to dispense with the forts which protected the inner harbor of New York or with Fort Warren, which defends that of Boston.

But, apart from the military point of view, there is a sentiment attaching to the place which would seem sufficient to prevent it from being abandoned as a military post, much less degrading it by using it as proposed. The mere suggestion by Senator of the Navy Bonaparte a year ago to destroy the hull of the old frigate Constitution by taking it out upon the ocean and sinking it by the discharge of heavily shotted guns, brought down upon his head such indignant protests that the idea was at once abandoned. And yet such disposition of it was proposed as a mark of honor instead of desecration as that suggested for Fort McHenry.
As the Baltimore Sun feelingly says: "To use this spot under sacred in its history for a cattle pen would be such desecration as to use Mount Vernon for a slaughter-house, or Plymouth Rock for a hospital for diseased poultry.
If the United States cannot put Fort McHenry to some proper and decent use, then it should be ceded to the city of Baltimore for a park, so that it will be of public utility and its historic features can be preserved."

This is a kind offer to rescue a spot so full of patriotic associations from desecration and would be entitled to consideration if the bond of attachment was purely local and limited to Baltimore or Maryland. But it is national, and from all sections of the Union will come strong insistence that it shall be preserved as a national monument to one of the most beautiful and patriotic incidents in our history. It was the bombardment of Fort Mclleny by the British fleet in August, 1814, that inspired Francis Scott Key, who witnessed it, to write the national anthem "The Star Spangled Banner." It could hardly be hoped that the American flag, which could plainly be seen when night came on, would be found still aloft in the morning. But when the morning broke it was still flying, and on the spur of the moment Key wrote the poem which made him immortal.—Courier-Journal.

HITCHCOCK.

Every president has the right to arrange his cabinet to satisfy his taste. A few presidents, in all our history, have subordinated their personal liking and antipathy. George Washington, for the country's good, used the services of his enemy, Thomas Jefferson. Abraham Lincoln called to the war department a man who had spoken of him openly with contempt. He kept in the treasury an incumbent who plotted to supplant his chief. He had as his secretary of state a leader in a faction of the party which had opposed his nomination. Such magnanimity is rare, and when it is combined with insight into men, is most valuable in a statesman.
William McKinley had this attribute.
He saw deep into men, and he selected, not from his private liking, but for their suitability to the needs at hand. Hay is dead. The country demanded his retention while he lived. Root and Taft are working in harmony with the successor of their chief. Hitchcock is worthy to stand with the other three in service to the country. No selection of McKinley's showed profounder insight. Without blare of trumpets, so quietly that his personality is comparatively unknown, but relentlessly, without rancor or personal favor, this official has buldosed solidly toward the newer justice by which rich and poor, enemy and friend, senator and obscure workman, are to have an equal hearing before the dread tribunal of the "right."

From Collier's for November 24, 1906.

THE FARMER.

The man who wrestles with the cow and lures the calves to suck, who casts the corn before the swine, is now in the greatest luck, for butter's on the upper grade, veal's higher than a kite, pork is climbing up the scale and beef is out of sight; eggs, he gathers every day from his poland chicken coop are almost worth their weight in gold and we are in the soup. His corn brings him a fancy price, it's rising every day and he rakes in all kind of money for half a load of hay. The farmer is in the saddle and when he comes to town the rest of us by right should go way back and sit down.—Sprug-field, Tenn., Herald.

VOICE OF PEOPLE

The Fight Against the Bawdy Houses —A Statement.In the publicity of the fight just waged against some of the bawdy houses of the city, so much has been said about those who began the movement and helped to carry it on, that the public should hear the facts from some of the workers.Let us review the history of the situation. Forty years ago, when Paducah was a village, certain houses of ill-fame existed on the river front, on South Second street.
They became a public nuisance and were ordered to move. Thirty-nine years ago these houses moved to what is now known as West Court street. At that time the location was practically out of town. In a little pocket of a street ending in a hollow, and with practically no near neighbors. But thirty-nine years have passed since then, and Paducah, now grown from a village to a city, has had to face a new situation. What was then nearly out of town, a retired spot, remote, hidden away, separated from the life of the town, has been so surrounded by the city as to become very nearly the center of town. During the last few years numerous things have taken place to magnify the publicity of the objectionable neighborhood. An elegant city high school building has been erected nearby; the public library is just across the street; cars are now running on Ninth street, and the old tobacco warehouses which acted as a sort of screen have burned down.
West Court street has become possibly the most conspicuous spot in the city of Paducah.Certainly the time has arrived to clean up. But the argument has been raised that the neighborhood has been "regulated," kept as quiet and unobtrusive as possible, porches littered in the inmates forbidden to solicit patronage, or even to appear in public in offensive dress or manner. We have no way of knowing what orders have been given for this "regulating," but we do know that such orders, if given, have been openly disregarded. Here are a few facts, not theories, but facts, well known, and capable of being substantiated, every one:Littered porches, in themselves an open sign of the character of the house, have not prevented inmates from sitting in doorways and walking the streets in full view of every one passing on Broadway or Ninth street, going, for instance, to the high school or the public library.We do know that women have openly solicited patronage in public manner, and that, too, from men riding on a Ninth street car, or standing on Broadway. We do know that an indecent exhibition has been indulged in by at least three women, on the public pavement, on a beautiful Sunday afternoon, when the neighboring public streets were filled with men, women and children. We do know that when a certain public parade was passing up Broadway, fully a dozen women, in very objectionable attire, in itself

RUSH WORK

NINETEENTH STREET LINE SOON TO BE COMPLETED.

May Make Loop to Connect With Depot Line—Officials Have Considered It.

The extension of the Broadway culvert over Bradshaw creek is all that will delay the running of cars on Nineteenth street from Broadway to the old Mayfield road. Foreman Puffer, of the Columbia Construction company, has been rushing work and has laid rails as far as Guthrie avenue, having but a short distance to go.

It is understood that the traction company is contemplating making a loop from Nineteenth street and Broadway to Tennessee street, coming down Tennessee and making connection at Eleventh street. When the new Nineteenth street track is laid, there will be but few squares between the end of the line and Eleventh street, where the depot line cars turn.

MIZNER IN THREAT TO TELL

Says Former Mrs. Yerkes Is Penniless and Promises Senation.

New York, Dec. 3.—"While I have heard only reports to the effect that I am my wife's intention to institute divorce proceedings, I have no hesitancy in saying the real story of my marriage to Mrs. Charles T. Yerkes never has been told and when the facts are told they will prove of a startling character, different in every way from the general opinion now held by the public."

Wilson Mizner made this statement today and then declared in emphatic terms that coercion was employed to keep his wife from coming to him.

Mr. Mizner told a friend recently that when the financial issues involved are made public it will be seen that Mrs. Mizner is penniless. He made the declaration without a show of anger and expressed the utmost sympathy with his wife, concluding a forceful conversation with the expression: "When they have stripped her of her possessions, they will hand her back to me."

Parishioners Said to Have Objected to Convivial Habits.

New Haven, Conn., Dec. 3.—Rev. Dr. William Sturtevant, pastor of the Episcopal ministry for Immoral conduct. The official notice of his degradation appeared today in the Churchman. All the clergymen interested refused today to discuss the specific act involved. One of the deacons of the Oxford church said that Rev. Dr. Rafier was seen frequently at the local tavern and his love for conviviality was objected to by his parishioners. He is now in New York City, where, it is said, he has had a pastorate for several months.

REVERSES GOVERNOR'S PARDON

District Judge Denies Executive Authority in Paternity Case.

Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 3.—Governor Mickey's executive order directing the release of William Camplon, held in the Seward county jail on a paternity charge, has been set aside by Judge Good of the district court there. Judge Good holds that the governor possesses no power to pardon Camplon, because the proceedings in paternity cases are civil in character, while the governor's jurisdiction extends only to criminal matters. Camplon has also been convicted on a charge of child desertion.

St. Louis	9.9	0.7	rise
Mt. Vernon	20.2	0.4	fall
Paducah	23.0	2.6	fall

A fall of 5.4 feet was registered on the gauge this morning for the last 48 hours. The stage is 23. Business at the wharf was quiet this morning.

Owing to the trouble in securing labor on Sunday at Nashville, it is probable that the schedules of the Buttermilk will be changed. The Buttermilk will not make the Clarksville trip this week. It is probable that the schedule will be changed so that the Buttermilk will leave here Wednesday for Clarksville and Fridays for Nashville, thus throwing her in Nashville another day than Sunday. The present schedule is Mondays for Clarksville and Wednesdays for Nashville.

The Pacific with 23 pieces in tow passed down last night from Louisville to the Mississippi river. Sixteen barges of coal and 6 model barges of building iron. It was a big tow for a towboat the size of the Pacific.

The Sprague passed down early this morning, drifting slowly in the fog. The Clarke, Williams and Fulton are somewhat behind.

The Chattanooga probably will leave today for Chattanooga, Tenn. River men are watching this line to see whether it will be a go. With only a few months in the year to run and with the competition the larger part of the way of numerous other packets, it will be a hard pull.

The Saltillo did not arrive until today from St. Louis for the Tennessee river. The fog is delaying many boats.

The Georgia Leo passed down Sunday night with a big trip from Cincinnati to Memphis.

It is expected to have the City of Memphis ready to leave Wednesday evening in the Tennessee river trade. The Clyde will arrive tonight from the Tennessee river, and the rapidly falling river will allow its being taken out at the ways.

The Joe Fowler arrived Sunday afternoon from Evansville and left this morning at 11 o'clock for the return trip.

Business was light for the Dick Fowler to Cairo this morning.

The congestion of the traffic at Jopka is causing worry among river men. With the scarcity of barges on the rivers it is handicapping the towboats in their operations.

BE CHARITABLE.

To your horses as well as to yourself. You need not suffer from pain of any sort—your horses need not suffer. Try a bottle of Ballard's Snow Liniment. It cures all pains. J. M. Memorial to the Confederacy.

Washington, Dec. 3.—Congressman Olie James today secured a permit from the war department which is a reminder of one of the historic occasions of the civil war, when a Confederate cannon was thrown into the Mississippi river at Belton. The permit allows the Daughters of the Confederacy of Columbus, Ky., to mount this cannon as a memorial to the Confederacy.

ALWAYS WAS SICK.

When a man says he always was sick—troubled with a cough that lasted all winter—what would you think if he should say he never was sick since using Ballard's Snow Liniment. Such a man exists. Dr. J. C. Clark, Denver, Colo., writes: "For years I was troubled with a severe cough that would last all winter. This cough left me in a miserable condition. I tried Ballard's Snow Liniment and I have not had a sick day since. That's what it did for me."

EUROPE LISTENS FOR SETTLEMENT

San Francisco-Japanese Trouble Of Interest There.

Is Sensation in London and Talk in Paris, When Statement Is Issued.

SITUATION IS EXAGGERATED.

London, Dec. 3.—President Roosevelt's solution of the difficulty arising from the anti-Japanese rule of the San Francisco public schools is awaited with the greatest interest and some anxiety here.

The London papers are being regaled with sensational statements made by recent arrivals on the Pacific coast from the far east, suggesting the possibility of grave complications, even war.

The forthcoming presidential message to congress, therefore, is watched for with even greater interest than usual.

Interest in France.

Paris, Dec. 3.—Great interest is manifested here in the situation growing out of the exclusion of Japanese children from the public schools of San Francisco. Some of the French newspapers take an alarming view of the affair, owing to the sensational cable statements representing recent arrivals from the far east as saying that a clash between Japan and the United States is inevitable. The Japanese legation today issued a reassuring note declaring that the paroxysm of popular anger represented as raging in Japan was greatly exaggerated, and saying:

"Naturally it is a matter of national pride that our countrymen be permitted to enjoy the rights accorded to them by treaty, but we appreciate the local conditions and have the fullest confidence in the ability of the Washington government to arrange with California for a recognition of our rights."

"There is no thought of war. The best proof that the situation is not regarded in Japan as being grave is the fact that the legislature has not received any cable messages on the subject. Had Tokio been preparing to make a demonstration or to do anything of international importance, the legation would have received warning instructions."

Postmaster Robbed.

G. W. Fouts, Postmaster at River-tou, Ia., nearly lost his life and was robbed of all comfort, according to his letter which says: "For 20 years I had chronic liver complaint, which led to such a severe case of jaundice that even my finger nails turned yellow; when my doctor prescribed Electric Bitters, which cured me and have kept me well for 11 years." Sure cure for Biliousness, Neuralgia, Weakness and all Stomach, Liver, Kidney and Bladder derangements. A wonderful tonic. At all druggists, 50 cents.

Notice to Contractors.

The board of public works will receive bids on Wednesday, December 12, at 3 o'clock for the improvement of Nineteenth street, and Guthrie avenue, from Broadway to the Mayfield road, and Boyd street from Sixth to Seventh, by grading and graveling, as per plans and specifications on file in the city engineer's office, under ordinances governing same.

THE REFUGEES

By A. CONAN DOYLE.
Author of "The Return of Sherlock Holmes"

COPYRIGHT, 1905, BY HARPER & BROTHERS

"I must, madame."
She sprang forward at the door, but she slipped in front of her with outstretched arms.

"For God's sake, consider yourself, madame," he entreated. "Other eyes are upon you."

"Pah! Canaille!" She glanced at the knot of Swiss, whose sergeant had drawn them off a few paces and who stood open eyed, staring at the scene. "I tell you that I will see the king."

"You will ruin me if you pass."

"And none the less I shall do so."

The matter looked serious, but the Count was a man of resource, but for once he was at his wits' end. Mme. de Montepan's resolution, as it was called in her presence, or effrontery, as it was termed behind her back, was proverbial. If she attempted to force her way, would he venture to use violence upon one who only yesterday held the fortunes of the whole court in the hollow of her hand and who, with her beauty, her wit and her energy, might very well be in the same position to-morrow? If she passed him, then his future was ruined with the king, who never brooked the slightest deviation from his orders.

"If madame would deign to wait," said he soothingly, "the king will be on his way to the chapel in an instant."

"It is not yet time."

"I think the hour has just come."

"And why should I wait like a lackey?"

"It is but a moment, madame."

"No, I shall not wait," she took a step forward toward the door.

But the guardsman's quick ear had caught the sound of moving feet from within, and he knew that he was master of the situation. "I will take madame's message," said he.

"Ah, you have recovered your senses! Go, tell the king that I wish to speak with him."

"He must gain a little time yet. 'Shall I say it through the lord in waiting?'"

"No; you—off."

"Publicly?"

"No; no; for his private ear."

He slipped in front of her.

"Shall I give a reason for your request?"

"Oh, you madden me! Say what I have told you, and at once."

But the young officer's dilemma was happily over. At that instant the double doors were swung open, and Louis appeared in the opening, strutting forward on his high heeled shoes, his stick tapping, his broad skirts flapping and his courtiers spreading out behind him. He stopped as he came out and turned to the captain of the guard.

"You have a note for me?"

"Yes, sire."

The monarch slipped it into the pocket of his scarlet undervest and was advancing once more when his eyes fell upon Mme. de Montepan standing very stiff and erect in the middle of the passage. A dark flash of anger shot to his brow and he walked swiftly past her without a word, but she turned and kept pace with him down the corridor.

"I had not expected this honor, madame," said he.

"I wished to hear my fate from your own lips," she whispered. "I can bear to be struck myself, sire, even by him who has my heart, but it is hard to hear that one's brother has been wounded through the months of valets and hussar soldiers for no fault of his save that his sister has loved too fondly."

"It is no time to speak of such things."

"When can I see you, then, sire?"

"In your chamber at 4."

"Then I shall trouble your majesty no further."

She swept him one of the graceful courtesies for which she was famous, and turned away down a side passage with triumph shining in her eyes.

CHAPTER IV.

LOUIS had walked on to his devoted ones in no very charitable frame of mind, as was easily to be seen from his clouded brow and compressed lips. He knew his late favorite well, her impulsiveness, her impulsiveness, her lack of all restraint when thwarted or opposed. She was capable of ranking a hideous scandal, of turning against him that bitter tongue which had so often made him laugh at the expense of others, perhaps even of making some public exposure which would leave him the butt and gossip of Europe. He shuddered at the thought. At all costs such a catastrophe must be averted. And yet how could he cut the tie which bound them? This woman would struggle hard, fight to the bitter end, before she would quit the position which was so dear to her. She spoke of her wrongs. What were her wrongs?

In his intense selfishness, nurtured by the eternal flattery which was the very air he breathed, he could not see that the fifteen years of her life which he had absorbed or the loss of the husband whom he had supplanted gave her any claim upon him. In his view he had raised her to the highest position which a subject could occupy. Now he was weary of her, and it was her duty to retire with resignation, even with gratitude for past favors. She should have a pension, and the children should be cared for. What could a reasonable woman ask for more?

On the whole, his conscience nagged him. But in this one matter he had been lax. From the first coming of his gentle and forgiving young wife from Spain he had never once permitted her to be without a rival. Now that she was dead the matter was no longer a matter of conscience. One favorite had succeeded another, and if De Montepan had held her own so long it was rather from her audacity than from his affection. But now Father in Chaise and Bossuet were ever reminding him that he had topped the summit of his life and was already upon that downward path which leads to the grave. The time had come for gravity and for calm, neither of which was to be expected in the company of Mme. de Montepan.

But he had found out where they were to be enjoyed. From the day when De Montepan had introduced the stately and silent widow as a governess for his children he had found a never failing and ever increasing pleasure in her society. For a time he had thought that her piety and her talk of principle might be a mere mask, for he was accustomed to hypocrisy all round him. It was surely unlikely that a woman who was still beautiful, with as bright an eye and as graceful a figure as any in his court, could after a life spent in the gayest circles preserve the spirit of a nun. But on this point he was soon undeceived. For when his own language had become warmer than that of friendship he had been met by a keenness of manner and a brevity of speech which had shown him that there was one woman at least in his dominions who had a higher respect for herself than for him. And perhaps it was better so. The placid pleasures of friendship were very soothing after the storms of passion. To sit in her room every afternoon, to listen to talk which was not tainted with flattery and to hear opinions which were not framed to please his ear were the occupations now of his happiest hours. And then her influence over him was all so good!

And now he knew that the time had come when he must choose between her and De Montepan. Their influences were antagonistic. They could not continue together. He stood between virtue and vice, and he must choose.

Such were the thoughts which ran through the king's head as he bent over the rich crimson cushion which topped his pillow of carved oak. He knelt in his own inclosure to the right of the altar, with his hands and his immediate household around him, while the court, ladies and cavaliers, filled the chapel. Piety was a fashion now, like dark overcoats and lace cravats, and no courtier was so worldly minded as not to have had a touch of grace since the king had taken to religion.

It was the habit of Louis as he walked back from the chapel to receive petitions or to listen to any tales of wrong which his subjects might bring to him. On this particular morning there were but two or three—a Parisian who conceived himself injured by the provost of his guild, a peasant whose cow had been torn by a huntsman's dog and a farmer who had had hard usage from his feudal lord. A few questions and then a hurried order to his secretary disposed of each case. He was about to resume his way again when an elderly man, clad in the garb of a respectable citizen and with a strong, deep lined face which marked him as a man of character, darted forward and threw himself down upon one knee in front of the monarch.

"What is this?" asked Louis. "Who are you, and what is it that you want?"

"I am a citizen of Paris, and I have been cruelly wronged."

"You seem a very worthy person. If you have indeed been wronged you shall have redress. What have you to complain of?"

"Twenty of the Blue dragons of Languedoc are quartered in my house, with Captain Dabert at their head. They have devoured my food, stolen my property and beaten my servants, yet the magistrates will give me no redress."

REPUBLICANS TO NOMINATE.

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 3.—Commonwealth's Attorney Joseph M. Huffaker, of Louisville, came here late this afternoon at the request of Governor Beckham and the two were in conference for several hours. Both afterwards refused to say just what phase of the Sunday "lid" question their talk had covered, but it is known that it had to do with steps which are to be taken immediately to make a complete test of the laws now on the statute books.

Asylum Is Sued.
Lexington, Dec. 3.—The Eastern Kentucky asylum for the insane, through the state board of control of charitable institutions, will have a suit filed against it Monday, in the circuit court for damages in the sum of $50,000 for the killing of Fred Ketterer, the Ashland patient, and for which crime Fred Pharris and D. M. Adams, former attendants are under sentence of the court and now serving their terms. The suit is being filed by J. Franklin Wallace, an attorney for David Ketterer, administrator of the estate of Fred Ketterer.

Nominate in Third.
Mt. Sterling, Ky., Dec. 3.—Hon. Robert H. Winn, chairman of the Republican committee of the Third railroad commission district, of this city, today issued a call for a meeting of the committee to be held in Winchester at 10 o'clock a. m., Saturday, January 5, for the purpose of fixing the time and manner of nominating a candidate for member of the state board of railroad commissioners. There will be several candidates, nomination being equivalent to an election. Among them are A. T. Sher, of Whitley county; William Black, of Knox county; Jacob Patrick, of Magoffin county, and numerous others.

REGULATE PRICE BY WEIGHT.
Proposes Back Platform Be Turned Into Scales.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 3.—Sheriff Mulhern, a profound thinker on economic questions and a traction expert of repute, has evolved a plan for the solution of the street railway question in Cleveland, which, if adopted, will quell all bickering between contending parties and condemn Mayor Johnson to twenty-five-cent ear fare for the remainder of his life. "What is the use of bothering about all this five-cent and seven for a quarter and three-cent business?" demanded Sheriff Mulhern. "Listen: Make 'em all pay by weight."

SHEA RECEIVED MONEY
To Start Strike to Injure Montgomery & Ward.

Chicago, Dec. 3.—Albert Young was the first witness today in the trial of Cornelius Shea, president of the International Teamsters' union, charged with conspiracy. He testified that at the meeting of labor leaders $1,500 was distributed between five officers of the Teamsters' union for the purpose of causing a strike against Montgomery, Ward & company. Young said Shea was one of the men who received the money.

There is no argument as wholly convincing as actual experience.

ONE ARREST MADE FOR BEING IN MOB

Princeton Outrage Will Be Investigated.

Government Will Take a Hand and Great Britain May Be Appealed to.

WARNINGS WERE SENT OUT

Princeton, Ky., Dec. 3.—On information secured by Mott Ayres, state fire marshal, who is conducting an investigation into the burning of the two steamers here this morning, a warrant was issued for William Miller, foreman of the Illinois Central section gang, charging him with being a member of the mob. Circuit Clerk Gardner swore that he recognized Miller as a member of the mob. Mr. Ayres will begin taking testimony Monday morning in a formal investigation, when it is expected that important evidence will be brought out.

Federal Intervention.
International complications may follow as the result of the destruction of the Steger Tobacco steamery, and the act of a faction in the great struggle for the possession of the tobacco industry may involve two great nations. Federal intervention and investigation is certain to come. The Steger plant, which was located in a valuable brick structure, was operated by Thomas Gallagher, "The Tobacco King," whose home is in Belfast, Ireland. Though he has frequently personally supervised the work of obtaining control of the tobacco output, he has never become a citizen of this country, and may still appeal to the Union Jack.

Managers of the plant, which now lies in ruins, a smoldering fire eating into the heart of the immense supply of tobacco stored in the building, declare that Mr. Gallagher will call on the British government to take a hand, and to demand from the United States reparation, financial and otherwise, for the loss he has suffered and for the outrage perpetrated upon a citizen of the empire.

Postoffice Windows Riddled.
The postoffice building was riddled with the bullets of the midnight raiders. The big plate glass window was shattered by no less than twelve shots, and the whole structure was damaged. Postoffice authorities are already investigating, and the destruction of government property will bring to the scene the most skillful detectives in the secret service.

Warned Week Ago.
Warning of the destruction of the factories here was given a week ago. The agent for the fire insurance companies which had issued policies for the factories received an anonymous letter ordering him to cancel the policies held by the companies. He not only refused to do this, but issued policies for an additional $50,000 on the factories. The companies placed guards about their buildings, but they were outnumbered.

Information received by the authorities leads many to believe that the men who fired the tobacco plants here came from Trigg county, as the latest reports indicate that they turned off in that direction after proceeding toward Eddyville.

PABLO SURPRISED.
Wife and Daughters of Padajane's Chief Captured.

Manila, Dec. 3.—A force of constabulary under command of Major Murphy surprised the camp of Pablo, chief of the Padajanes, in the island of Sama, at daylight, Friday. Eleven Padajanes were killed. The chief's son and nine of the hand were wounded. Chief Pablo escaped but his wife and daughters were captured. Clothing, arms and papers found were destroyed, together with the camp.

Steamboats Through Bills.

Washington, Dec. 3.—One of the most important questions confronting the interstate commerce commission—as to whether steamship companies that issue through bills of lading from foreign ports to points beyond the ports at which they land in the United States are under the jurisdiction of the rate regulation act—will come up for determination on December 12. No ocean steamship company has as yet conceded that it is in any degree or manner under the jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission and the interstate commerce law as amended by congress last spring has not put the commission in a much better position than it occupied previously with reference to the matter.

Treating Wrong Disease.

Many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous exhaustion or prostration, another with pain here and there, and in this way they all present alike to themselves and their easy-going and indifferent, or over-busy doctor, separate and distinct diseases, for which he assumes them to be such, prescribes his pills and potions. In reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some uterine disease. The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, encourages this practice until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better, but probably worse, by reason of the delay, wrong treatment and consequent complications. A proper medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause would have entirely removed the disease, thereby dispelling all those distressing symptoms, and instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery. It has been well said, that "a disease known is half cured."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. It is made of native medicinal roots and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system.

As a powerful invigorating tonic "Favorite Prescription" imparts strength to the whole system and to the organs directly longed for in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequalled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nerve "Favorite Prescription" is unequalled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, chorea, St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the uterus. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate the stomach, liver and bowels. Due to three a dose. Easy to take as candy.

Punkin Pie.
From September to February something like 16,000 pumpkin pies a day are eaten in New York restaurants—The World.

Say!
16,000 punkin pies a day Reads like a fairy tale; Seems Like a silken sail
On a ship of dreams—Pie-p dreams!
Oh, me! oh my:
Punkin-pie-p dreams.
One pie—
Punkin or mince,
Apple or cherry,
Black or raz
Or huckleberry.
Custard, lemon,
Peach or plum,
Or any of them—
Is going some.
But 16,000 pies in one day!
And all punkin!
Aw! say!
That's too good to be true!
Skidoo!
What?
Oh! dreams, on dreams Of golden mince, Round, open-faced Ambrosial slush!—
And yet,
There's one regret,
To wit: a man,
Built on the present plan, Has to let 15,999 pies get away Every day.

THEATRICAL NOTES

"Land of Nod" Tonight.
 "The Land of Nod," an organization numbering eighty people under the direction of the Will J. Block Amusement company, is to be presented at the Kentucky theater tonight. It has broken all records of Chicago musical comedy productions, having played twenty-seven weeks in that city, and this sort of thing does not come by chance. "The Land of Nod" is presented with a great cast, which includes Anna McNabb, Ursula March, Adele Oswald, Emily Huff, Knox Wilson, Nell McNeill, George Fox, Allyn Roberts, George McKissock. There are thirty comedy and musical numbers, among them being "The Belle of Highbush Row," "Some Old Moon," "My Bonnie," "Great to ground. It will be presented by a company of exceptional merit. "My Dixie Girl" will be the attraction at the Kentucky on Friday night. The sale of seats opens Thursday morning.

A Well Balanced Mind.

In the nature of human beings there are many sides. The serene, the sublime, the ridiculous, and a mind that leans toward any of these to an abnormal degree is not well balanced; as too much sadness brings on chronic melancholia while too much joy makes sacred things appear to the too joyous mind in a light that is incongruous to the real truth of religion. A mind well balanced enjoys a picture of life that portrays season in conjunction with "What Would a Gentleman Do?" "When We Were Twenty-one" and "The Gilded Fool." The work last named, by the by has never been seen in Texas and neighboring territory, and it is in response to requests from this section, shortly to be visited by Mr. Goodwin, that he makes the production at this time.

All the managerial world hereabouts is talking of the amazing receipts of David Warfield in "The Music Master," since the actor of infinite charm left New York. It is learned upon indubitable authority that in Boston at the Majestic theater he means the best play house in the New England metropolis. Warfield drew gross receipts of $72,000 in four weeks, more than $20,000 of this sum having been taken in during the final week of the season. The star of "The Music Master" is now filling a four weeks' engagement in Philadelphia, where the theater in which he is playing is considerably larger than Boston's Majestic, a condition the consequences of which will be that his takings for the term of the run will not fall below $80,000, as shown by the advance sale thus early in Warfield's Quaker City visit. It is not stretching matters to state that no other American star at regular prices of admission has ever before approached such figures as those here quoted.

We are having a week of special matinees at the various theaters. At the Princess a Russian actress named Alla Nazimova is playing the hectic and at the same time sordid Ibsen drama "Hedda Gabler," with an accent that is even harder to comprehend than the motive of the playwright. At the Majestic Mrs. Le Moyne, very ably supported, is giving afternoon representations of the impossible poet Browning's "Pippa Passes," but the passes of the other sort, which represent the bulk of the attendance, are not the passes of Browning. They are written by the management. For Thursday afternoon at the New Astor theater the tragic playlet "Salome" is announced with Mercedes Lee, whoever Mercedes Lee may be, in the name part. On the same afternoon Miss Lena Aswell undertakes the rather risky task of inviting comparison between herself and Miss Margaret Anglin in the centering personage of "Mrs. Dane's Defense." This comes off at the Lyric theater, where in two representations these actresses will alternate.

One week hence Blanche Bates will have left us and proceeded to Boston, where her tour of the large cities is to begin in David Belasco's vivid and pulse-quickening play "The Girl of the Golden West."

"The Girl's" place at the Belasco theater will be immediately taken by Mr. Belasco's new drama of Southern California life in the early times called "The Rose of the Rancho." I hear through an underground channel that the preliminary expenditures upon this production have been in excess of $50,000, and if that's the Belasco idea of "a little play," I shouldn't like to furnish the bank roll for the realization of his conception of a big one.

Joseph Weber and his supporting company, headed by Marie Dressler, came back to town on Sunday with rubbers on, as the advance agents say, when there is no preliminary hurrah over an approaching attraction. But even the extreme reticence of the Weber corps of boomers didn't prevent the gathering of a large audience on Monday night, or a rousing welcome for the star and his principal assistants. Mr. Weber is hard at work on his new extravaganza, the book of which, as usual, has been furnished by Edgar Smith. The opening night will be one of the events of the Gotham season.

George W. Monroe, under the shrewd business direction of his brother, Robert B. Monroe, is about to resume his starring career at the head of his own organization. This time the round and intensely droll comedian will be seen in a comedy written especially for him by Charles Klein, author of "The Music Master," "The Lion and the Mouse" and other notable plays. The Monroe offering is to be exploited under the title "The Time of Your Life," and in it the star will appear as an interesting young fellow who disguises himself in feminine apparel in order to clear the obstacles raised between himself and the girl with whom he has fallen in love.

LEANDER RICHARDSON.

The Wrong Tip.

In a Parisian cafe an American ordered a hors d'oeuvre, sole, agneau pre sale, artichoke salad, peche Melba, and so on, and, when the waiter brought him a bill of 30 francs, he paid it like a man. After his change was brought he counted it and pushed a franc toward the waiter for a tip. But the man, pushing back the franc, said in gentle reproach: "Pardon, Monsieur, but that is the counterfeit franc."

DREAM DIARY.

Sleeping Deeds of Harmless Men Are Glory and Terrible.

(New York Sun.)

"We are such stuff as dreams are made of. Guess Shakespeare wasn't much of a dreamer," is the way the subject was introduced. This followed:

Some people say they never dream. Whether they are to be envied is a question. If one could push a button and have a dream brought on whenever one desired a vision in sleep, dreams might become luxuries, but as long as drama (mis)wished but as long as dreams continue to come and go as they do, or as mine do, me for a dreamless sleep.

It is a mistake to suppose dreams necessarily come from late rarefies, liquid concoctions and poorly-ventilated rooms. The most hideous nightmare in my recollection galloped over me after I had remained in my room all evening reading delicious poetry, and after a dinner of nothing but reasonable fruit; after I had taken the precaution to have the atmosphere of my room at hospital temperature and after I had a day unalloyed from care.

A long time ago I began keeping a record of dreams. I added after each my mental and physical condition at the time I went to bed. In looking over this dream diary, however, I can form no deductions.

There is no connection between any dream and my business or condition. I have committed crimes in my sleep as atrocious as any of which I have read after a day and evening spent in the most delightful surroundings, and this when I was in prime condition.

I have written plays, poems and books which entranced multitudes who saw and read, and which brought me honor and wealth. All in my sleep! I never attempted either in my waking hours.

These sleep visions have come to me after the day was crowded with anxiety and unsolved problems and after I had gone to bed, racked with pain. A very learned person to whom I stated the case said it was nature's recompense, or something of that sort.

The most charitable deed I ever did, the one which made me feel that I had won a sharp and a halo, was rewarded in sleep by a brutal attack upon my beneficiary which would have justified the community in lynching me.

I had a friend in the fullest sense of the word. If there ever was a man for whom I would have laid down my life it was this friend. He sickened and died. I attended him in his affliction, took charge of the funeral and was the sincerest mourner at his bier.

The very night of the day on which he was buried I went in my sleep to his grave, resurrected his body, carried it to a dissecting room, sold it and danced gleefully as I saw it mutilated and cut into fragments. Then with the money I had received I gave a banquet to the men who had paid me for my ghoulish work.

This mean diary of mine is filled with train robberies, acts of incendiarism, stranglings and other diabolical acts.

Never shall I forget a night that followed a day in which I had been with the rector of my church on a mission of mercy. I had laid aside my business to help.

That night, in my sleep, you understand, I was summoned to Rome. I presented myself to the present pope, who informed me that I was to take the place of Merry del Val.

I don't know how long I had held the job, but the pope sent for me one night and told me that he wanted me to remove the bodies of all the dead popes in St. Peter's and have them thrown into the Tiber. A big job, but I took it.

When I reported that the work had been done the pope informed me that he was tired of his place and wanted to go back to Venice. He put it up to me to destroy the city of the Doges. You wouldn't expect me to go into the details of this task. I don't know that there were any details; I only know that the breaking up of the Church of Rome was accomplished.

When I had landed the latest successor of St. Peter as he had asked, he rewarded me with an appointment. What do you suppose it was? He made me commissioner of the Grand Canal with power to boss every gondola in the waters. The dream ended there.

After these few quotations from my dream diary it is due me to say that in every day life I am a conservative. I am not addicted to any vice. I am not a gourmet. I never use drugs.

I am just a plain, ordinary man, harmless and devoid of any ambition other than that of living in peace with all men. I have no excessive cu-

WELL ATTENDED

Many Hear Doctor Bolling At Broadway Church

"Jewels" Subject of Sermon by the Rev. W. E. Cave at First Presbyterian.

BAPTIST REVIVAL CONCLUDED.

Large congregations greeted Dr. W. T. Bolling at the Broadway Methodist church yesterday. He quite measured up to the good things that had been said of him in advance, and met his people more as an old friend than as a new pastor. He is a preacher of exceptional ability and charm, speaking with the ease and power of the born orator, and easily commanding the earnest attention of his hearers.

From the text "For in Jesus Christ neither circumcision availeth anything, nor uncircumcision; but faith which worketh by love," he showed with logical sequence that faith was the underlying foundation of all life, national, common and everyday, and not an arbitrary condition of God. That faith takes God at his word, and Love is the only acceptable service. Faith not ecclesiasticism he stressed as the motive power of the church, and a "Faith that worketh by Love" was the charge he laid upon this people in the beginning of his pastorate. Humor and pathos were closely allied in his sermon, and he enforced his arguments with telling illustrations.

In the evening Dr. Bolling used the ever-fascinating story of "The Rich Young Ruler" to show the power and greatness of the inheritance of eternal life. The music was very fine at both services and Mrs. Will Clark rendered a beautiful violin solo at the evening offering. There was one addition to the church at the morning service.

Jewels of Righteousness.
 "Jewels" was the subject of the sermon preached by the Rev. W. E. Cave at the First Presbyterian church yesterday morning. Good men and women were jewels he had reference to and he used many apt illustrations of his subject. He adjured the parents to bring up their children to be jewels of the home and society.

End of Revival.

The revival which has been in progress for several weeks at the Twelfth Street Baptist Mission closed yesterday. Rev. E. H. Cunningham, of the city, has had charge of the services and has done a successful work. There were ten additions yesterday to the mission, making about 20 in all. Mr. Cunningham will remain here for a short rest before beginning any other evangelistic work.

First Christian.

The Rev. J. M. Hudspeth, of Hopkinsville, Ky., filled the pulpit of the First Christian church yesterday, both morning and evening. The morning service was in the interest of Christian Women's Board of Missions and was a strong plea for foreign missions. The annual offering of the local C. W. B. M. auxiliary was taken and a nice sum raised. It is probable that Mr. Hudspeth will preach again at the First Christian church on Wednesday evening. He is popular in Paducah where he has preached on several occasions.

The Rev. J. W. Blackard, D. D., presiding elder of the Paducah district Methodist churches held quarterly conference at Ridland on Saturday and quarterly meeting services on Sunday morning. At night he preached at the Third Street Methodist church, Paducah, and will hold the quarterly conference of that church tonight. This is the beginning of Dr. Blackard's first round of quarterly meetings for the year, and the district will not be fully covered until February 4.

Didn't Want to Go to Court.

A man who was rich enough to afford it fell sick and in due time his family doctor called a consultation. After the conference had taken several snifters and a smoke over it, they decided as the first named hoped, and he went into the sick room and reported. SELECTING CHRISTMAS PRESENTS

Is a matter requiring much time and thought—ordinarily—but in a store like ours, carrying everything which a jeweler should carry, the task is greatly simplified. Whether it is diamonds or other precious gems, watches, clocks, jewelry, hand painted china or something of that sort, you can find no one better equipped to help you out than we. But it is only a matter of a few days now until Christmas, so don't delay.

We should be glad to furnish the score cards for your next card party; just call and ask for them—they are free.
